The first story front is a recent alteration in the Tudor style of half-timber. It contains three connected fixed windows on its right half. Over the first story is a wood shingled awning roof.

The second floor has four double hung windows with 1/1 sash. These have wood sills and soldier course lintels. At the eaves of the roof is a simple cornice. On the roof are three gabled roof dormers with double hung windows with 1/1 sash.

No. 309

This building is very closely related to the building on its left at No. 305. It is 2-1/2 stories high and built of brick laid in common header bond painted beige. Its gable roof lines with that at No. 313 and is metal.

The first story is a continuation of the restaurant front in the building to the left. It is a recent alteration in a half-timber style. The entrance to the restaurant is at the left corner of this building, No. 315. To its right are several fixed windows. Over the first story front extends a wood shingled awning roof and this breaks out into a hif roof over the entrance.

There is a simple cornice at the roof eaves. On the front slope of the roof, far to the left, is a dormer with a flat roof and a window with 1/1 sash. On the right end of the roof ridge are two connected chimneys.
